

INVESTMENT OBJECTIVE AND STRATEGY

The investment objective is current income and moderate capital appreciation. Depending on capital market dynamics, the strategy may generate income through equity or debt securities. Tactical asset allocation decisions are based on top-down economic analysis. Security selection decisions are based on bottom-up fundamental analysis. Risk is managed with a strict sell discipline and is reflected in the portfolio's low volatility and performance during steep market declines. In 2008, the Growth & Income portfolio lost 11% compared to a 37% loss in the S&P 500 and a loss of 18% in the custom benchmark.

ABOUT THE FIRM

VCM, as a SEC registered investment advisor since October of 2000, has a fiduciary responsibility to put client needs first. We are independent from banks, brokers and insurance companies and do not confront the many potential conflicts of interest that face entities who may not be held to such standards. The two managing principals have 80 years of combined investment experience and have worked together since 1991. In addition to individual account management, the firm offers investment services through registered investment advisors in the United States. Overall investment strategy is focused on managing individual growth equity portfolios and a less aggressive total return approach that weighs a combination of income and growth. For clients who desire broad diversification, the firm offers target return portfolios using low cost exchange-traded funds in active asset allocation models.

THE VALUE OF ACTIVE MANAGEMENT

The skillful, active management of a concentrated portfolio of growth and dividend stocks can produce above-average investment returns over the long term. The firm's portfolio managers use a combination of growth and income securities to achieve the dual objectives of capital appreciation and providing a specific level of current income to meet clients' needs. Security weightings in the portfolio are determined by the level of income and the availability of current income opportunities. The portfolio managers overlay the firm's bottom-up, growth stock selection process to identify income producing stocks that meet certain technical criteria. To achieve risk management goals, portfolio managers can raise and hold large cash positions during periods of above-average market volatility or increased uncertainty. Historically, bonds have been used to achieve income targets in this portfolio; however, bond yields continue to be too low to provide enough income to meet most clients' needs.

Thomas E. Nugent, EVP, CIO, Managed Since 2004

Tom began his career in December of 1968 as a Wall Street research analyst. He went on to manage individual and pooled portfolios for a regional bank, served as a representative for Arthur Laffer, the well-known economist, managed both mutual funds and individual institutional accounts for a Wall Street based mutual fund company and spent over twenty years in the design and implementation of lifestyle mutual fund portfolios for a West Coast retirement planning company.

He has also taught economics and business management at both the undergraduate and graduate level and is a Vietnam veteran.
